This regiment is not deployed at the start of the game but will appear as reinforcements during the battle. At the start of turn 2, roll a D6. On a 1-3, the regiment arrives that turn on the High Elf starting table edge and may move as normal that turn. On a 4-6, the regiment arrives at the start of turn 3 as above.

8 Phoenix Guard .....112 points

Defend the king with Fallorian on advance order for $96.00 and we'll give you the Lothern Seaguard command group totally free - save $9.99!

Khor Valarek has led his evil band to Ulthuan in search of slaves but news has reached him that a much bigger target is in the area - the Phoenix King himself is journeying from Lothern to the Court of the Everqueen in Avelorn, with only a small escort to protect him! After forced marching through the night, by dawn the Dark Elves are ready to sweep aside the Seaguard and Phoenix Guard, who are attempting to delay the hordes from Naggaroth long enough for the King to escape – both sides, however, know that if the High Elf infantry can just hold off their evil kindred for a few hours, reinforcements may arrive in time to save them!

Playing the scenario

The Dark Elf player deploys his full force first. No special deployment for Dark Riders or Scouts. The regiment of Silver Helms are not available at the start of the battle as they are thundering toward the battlefield and will appear as reinforcements (as explained in the army lists). After the High Elf player has deployed his army, the battle begins. The Dark Elves get the first turn.

The battle begins at dawn and lasts for five turns. If, by the end of the battle, any Dark Elf regiment has left the table by their opponent's table edge, then the result is a Dark Elf victory - the Phoenix King will find he must run or die! Any other outcome is a High Elf victory and Khor Valarek must face the wrath of Malekith when his failure becomes known...

WARHAMMER 40,000

Polish your chapter off with this great model!!!

Since they were advertised in Troll last month, the Thunderhawk Gunships have been going like mad! For $649.99 you get the model and it'll be packed in a felt-lined, embossed, individually numbered, and lacquered pine case!

There is a limited supply of these amazing multi-piece models. Make sure you order yours today.

As you can see the Thunderhawk Gunship is a rather large and very elaborate model! While it looks simply magnificent, it does take a lot of work and modeling skill to put this piece together. You'll have to use the full repertoire of modelers tools from knives, clippers, to files, drills and brass rods. Because of this make sure you are up to the task before you buy this model because we are not taking returns on it!

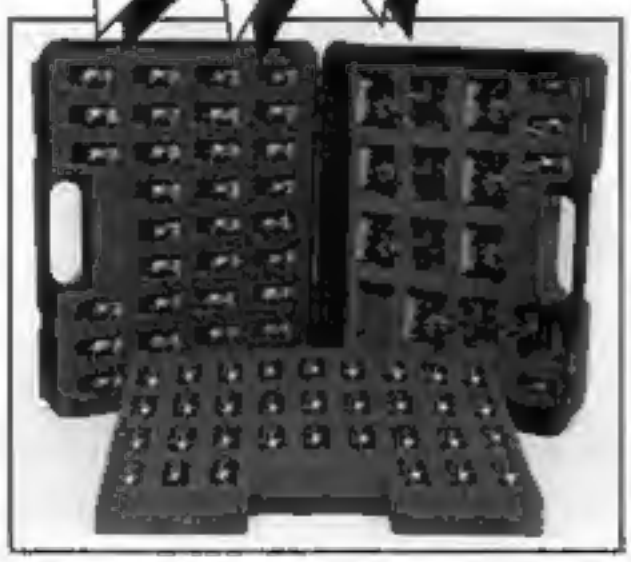
Regularly $20, or with custom made foam trays for $30!

Tired of lugging around that cardboard box? Are your miniatures starting to smell like fishbait because they've been locked away in a tackle box? Then it's time to pick up your very own figure case!

Figure cases are a great way to keep your miniatures safe from harm, whether they are sitting home, or are being transported to a friend's house or a store for a game. It can be inconvenient, however to lug three or four cases around at once, this is why we're excited to offer you an all new spin on our great figure cases.



These cases can come with three new custom made foam trays which can hold over 99 models for only $10 more! But what's even better is that the slots can be cut to accommodate bigger models like mounted figures, ogres, chariots and more!

Now you can consolidate your whole army into one convenient case, even if you have unwieldy models like spearmen or cavalry!

For $30.00 you can get the complete case with the custom foam! Alternatively, you can buy the custom made foam trays for $10 and upgrade your existing case!

Just imagine, you could fit twice as many goblins (or other suitably small miniatures), that would be 200+ models in one case!

A TALE OF FOUR GAMERS
